VISITING — the chapters

with Alumni Secretary
MARY SHAY

The Annual Meeting of the University of Dayton Alumni Association took place Dec. 7 on the campus. Members of the National Board, Chapter Representatives, Members-elect to both the Alumni and Board of Athletic Control attended.

The Alumni Secretary presented her annual report. The Treasurer's report and progress made on the Kettering Challenge Gift Program were given.

An interesting report prepared by Mr. James J. Gilvary, National Vice-President on the dialogue between the National Alumni Board and representatives of the student body was read by Mr. Donald Ruhl. At the request of National and Local Boards student representatives were invited to attend meetings. Some of the matters discussed were: articles appearing in the Flyer News regarding Bishop O'Boyle and Birth Control; compulsory R.O.T.C.; news leaks from campus to local papers which are critical of the school and administration; student demonstrations such as those held last Fall over R. O. T. C., which embarrassed

Mr. Joseph D. Quinn '42, left and Mr. Louis J. Cannarozzi '52, right, were elected to the University of Dayton's Board of Athletic Control. They were sworn into office at the Annual Meeting of the Alumni Association in December, and will serve terms of three years.

Bro. Elmer C. Lackner, S.M., '27, Vice-President, Development and Public Relations, U.D., Jerome E. Westendorf '43, National President, Alumni Association and Mary Shay '44, Alumni Secretary participating during the Annual Meeting, U.D. Alumni Association.

the University and its alumni; choice of speakers at programs at the University; students' Bill of Rights; students' desire for freedom of press, dress and academic discipline; interdisciplinary courses; student desire to be committed to a cause to improve society, to get rid of poverty and racism, and methods used to achieve those goals; student concern that only a few of their numbers are doing things; right of dissent through proper channels; problems involved in off-campus housing; student participation in decision making of the administration; student fees; bad effect on community financial support of unfavorable publicity on campus.

Discussion was quite spirited. No great solutions were forthcoming, nor were they particularly sought. However, a better understanding of the viewpoints of all concerned was certainly achieved.

Those elected to the National Alumni Board of Athletic Control were administered the oath of office by Jerome E. Westendorf, National President.

Mr. Richard Durbin '55, left, Mrs. Virginia MacMillan Varga '51, center and Mr. David L. Ford '54, right, were administered the oath of office on the National Alumni Board. Mr. Ford was appointed to fill the unexpired term of Mr. James Uttermohlen '51. Mr. Donald E. Ruhl, '47, not shown, Mr. Durbin and Mrs. Varga were elected to three-year terms.

In addition to changing the name and broadening the base of alumni participation, changes include the nomination for Chapter President at the February board meeting and his election by the Board at the March meeting.

It is with great pleasure and appreciation that the Association has selected the 1968 nominee for the Chapter Service Award. This young man has participated actively and effectively in the functions and affairs of the Alumni throughout the years since his graduation. Of course, his dedication to the University of Dayton, its purposes and traditions, is well known to all of us.

Particularly within his two terms as President of this Chapter, his able leadership and enthusiasm have proven invaluable. During his tenure, the interests and efforts of the Chapter have been widely expanded, the Board reorganized with an emphasis toward greater involvement and the programs enhanced for the benefit and enrichment of all Alumni.

The countless working hours and significant contributions of this alumnus certainly have earned our gratitude and recognition. We very happily present the 1968 Award for Outstanding Chapter Service to

SPECIAL SERVICE AWARD

Presented By

THE MONTGOMERY COUNTY CHAPTER
UNIVERSITY OF DAYTON ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

While it has not been the practice of this Chapter to honor those, not Alumni of the University of Dayton, we feel it especially appropriate to break the tradition at this time. This gentleman has been so long a fixture and a part of the campus at the University, and so deeply involved, that it is only fitting and proper that his efforts and contributions be recognized.

Since his arrival in 1954, as Assistant Football Coach to Hugh Devore, throughout his many years as freshman basketball coach, to this present position as Director of Intramural Athletics, he has devoted himself to the overall athletic program at the University, to the athletes, and most of all, to the student body. His selfless dedication has enriched the lives of all who have had the opportunity to participate with him in sports and fellowship.

The members of the Alumni Board very happily and appreciatively present this special award in recognition of service to

20,000th DIPLOMA OF GRADUATION

"Celebrity of the Day" was Mrs. William (Mary Joyce) Hovey of Dayton, whose Bachelor of Science in Education, elementary education, degree, was the 20,000th UD diploma of graduation since 1885.

Charles Sherer of Dayton received first diploma

Mrs. William (Mary Joyce) Hovey, receiving a bachelor of science in education, elementary education degree at the December Diploma Exercise, was the 20,000th person to accept a diploma of graduation from the University of Dayton since 1885. Charles Sherer, also of Dayton, paved the way for the young men and women who have received diplomas from the "little school on the hill," which has been variously known as St. Mary's Institute, St. Mary's College and the University of Dayton. He received the lone diploma in 1885.

From the time Sherer received his diploma until the first graduate walked to the platform last December, 19,721 men and women had been listed as UD graduates. Mrs. Hovey, who is the mother of two teenage boys, was the 279th person to be awarded a degree at the winter ceremonies.

Mrs. Hovey, married to William Hovey of UD's Research Institute, had been getting her education on a part-time basis. She started in the University's former Cadet Program, received a cadet certification, and did some teaching in Beavercreek. Mrs. Hovey carried a 3.21 accumulative average into graduation. Her sons are Peter, 16, and Tom, 14.

Twenty one men and women graduated in December with honors. Joseph Altieri of Philadelphia, with a bachelor of technology degree, was top graduate with a 3.896 out of a possible 4.0.

Five hundred and forty one received diplomas in December which was the first diploma exercise in the University's 119th Commencement.

NOLL HAS TOUGH JOB

Charles (Chuck) Noll, a member of the University of Dayton's 1952 Salad Bowl team and a charter inductee of the University's Athletic Hall of Fame, is one of the latest UD alumni honored in his chosen field. Chuck is now the head coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League and charged with the task of building a grid franchise which has been down for many years.

Noll received the position in late January and must build a professional grid squad which has won only 11 games and tied three in 42 contests over the past three seasons. In hiring Noll, Owner Dan Rooney said: "We were looking for someone who knows the pro game . . . we want someone to motivate our players."

Noll, who played for Paul Brown at Cleveland and was assistant coach with the San Diego Chargers and Baltimore Colts, now is part of an organization which has had only eight winning season in 36 years. It has never won a title.

Noll once said: "Coaching enhances everything. You're a writer, teacher, salesman, administrator and recruiter."

He'll now have a chance to apply those principles in a very difficult assignment.

HERBERT M. EIKENBARY ATTORNEY and WORLD TRAVELER

For Herbert M. Eikenbary '26, being mistaken for the famous figure of Winston Churchill is nothing unusual. Not only does he bear a striking physical similarity, but his florid Victorian speech is an echo, with an American accent, of the former British prime minister. It may have something to do with Eikenbary's reputation as a tough man to beat in the courtroom.

A prominent Dayton attorney, Eikenbary has made 142 West Second Street famous, where his roccoco Flemish office building has astonished and charmed clients for 21 years. A sign on the office door showing two moneys and the words "Our Partners" introduces visitors to the wealth of souvenirs and artifacts that line the stately lawyer's shelves. Eikenbary has collected these numerous figurines and carved objects from the 62 countries to which he has traveled, such as the Congo, Russia, Thailand, Afghanistan and Kenya.

In addition to the verbal battlefield of the courtroom, Eikenbary entered the world of the college teacher last year when he taught Criminal Law at UD in the Police Science Department. The jocose barrister is also a member of the Historical Society of Dayton which, as Eikenbary describes it, "tills the vineyards of the past." Together with his many traveling experiences he certainly can be termed a history expert and especially likes to recount the past history of Dayton, the era of the canal boats, and when West Second Street was the heart-land of the city's wealth and affluence.

Herbert Eikenbary will soon have more material to put in his history book. The First National Bank has asked its tenants to vacate the Lawyers building, built in 1912, which will then be razed in order for construction to begin on a new office tower of more than 20 stories. But the second Mr. Churchill does not intend to let his rare quarters become a part of the past so soon. He hopes to reproduce his present office at his new location at 2718 Wayne Avenue. "It will be a type of Disneyland," he commented.

STUDENTS AND A HELPING HAND

University development, at least the fund-raising portion of it, normally is not a function of the student body. However, some 75 University of Dayton students volunteered recently to make fund-raising their business.

Through the leadership of Chris Kerns, Student Government President; Al Shatteen, Vice President for Public Relations, Student Government, and Joe Caruso, who handles public relations for Student Congress, students spent their nights recently on the Kettering Challenge, the three-year fund-raising plan which is directed toward the University's alumni. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kettering, in January, 1968, offered the University a gift of $1,000,000 if the school's alumni would match this amount over a three-year period.

By mid-February UD had realized $820,000 in cash or pledges. Aware that some $180,000 was still needed to reach the Kettering goal, Kerns and Shatteen offered student help for a proposed telethon directed toward those "old grads" in the Dayton area who had not given or pledged to the Kettering Challenge.

Since the final week of January and through March 6, 75 students had alternated on a week-night telephone chase to contact some 4,000 local alumni. During the first six week period, the students had made 3,622 calls and reached 1,781 alumni in the 21 nights and 52 hours they had devoted to the task. The Development Office expected a report on the effort sometime in April.

This telethon effort is an indication that present-day college students can make a commitment to their University, even before they have walked from commencement exercises with their college diploma.

Joe Caruso, student leader, coordinated early phase of students' participation in telethon.

Chris Kerns, Student Government President who conceived of the student telethon for the Kettering Challenge, goes over details of the project with Mary Shay, Alumni secretary.

The phones in the Public Relations Department are manned by students contacting Dayton area alumni. Down the line are Chris Kerns, '69, Celina, O.; Chris Weckesser, '70, member of well-known Dayton and UD family; Mike Duffin, '70, Cleveland; and Joyce Drogan, '70, Roselle, New Jersey, standing behind Duffin.

Students enjoy dinner while being briefed on their part in Kettering Challenge Telethon.

ALL VARSITY LETTER WINNERS IN ALL SPORTS SHOULD REGISTER—NOW

Our records of all letter winners are incomplete. Please help the University update its records as to all persons who earned letters in all sports, including managers and male cheerleaders. This also informs us as to who is eligible for membership in the Varsity "D" Club. The computer is helpful but it will only process the information which is put into it. Seriously, let's help Dee McAnespie bring her records up-to-date. Cooperate and fill out the blank below. This includes all letter winners to the present time and means ALL sports — football, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, golf, fencing, soccer, ice hockey, wrestling, and rifle.

The plaque pictured on this page may be ordered for $12.50. For those who ordered earlier — be patient. The last publication listed a closing date of December 28, 1968 but most members didn't receive the Alumnus until after the first of the year — sorry. Please place your order now. The plaque is beautifully framed in wood and reproduced in four colors on a leatherette surface. It's something you'll be proud to display. It comes ready to hang. Fill out the blank below and attach your check.

Will all alumni eligible to join The Varsity "D" Club please fill out the blank below and send in their dues for 1969? All members living in Montgomery County pay $5.00. The increase is due to our rising costs. All others pay $2.00. You will be notified of all events. Let's make 1969 another banner year. 1969 membership cards will be mailed as soon as dues are received.

NOTICE: There will be a Varsity "D" meeting on Friday, April 11 at 8:00 P.M. in the Flyer's Hanger which is immediately behind the Fieldhouse. Coach Donohoe will review the 1968-69 U.D. basketball season. Be on time. Refreshments will be served following the meeting. By-laws will also be discussed at the meeting, our new president installed and our new board introduced.

BULLETIN

UD's hopes to be in its new sports arena by December 1, 1969, came tumbling down with a good portion of the steel structure on February 28. The long steel beams stretching 187 feet across the playing floor caved in on that date and left a twisted mass of steel which would take some cleaning out. When the ALUMNUS went to press, it hadn't learned how soon work could begin but it was certain that an investigation must take place before any more construction could be accomplished. No explanation for the cave-in was available at press time. Ticket orders for the 1969-70 season in the new arena had exhausted the seating space of 13,000.

ATHLETIC HALL OF FAME

Tom, Art and Gene in Spotlight

Before L. Thomas Blackburn assumed the basketball coaching reins at the University of Dayton in 1947, Flyer cage teams were barely known outside of Dayton. When Art Bok was a roving, running, plunging half-back at UD, Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis were known as Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside on the great Army football team. Art performed so well with the Flyers that he was dubbed Mr. Inside-Outside in the same era. When Gene Westendorf completed his athletic career with the Red and Blue in 1941, he had tucked away two football, three basketball and three baseball monograms.

Because of these achievements, all three, Tom, Art and Gene, are members of the University of Dayton Athletic Hall of Fame, having been inducted during halftime of the February 1 basketball game against Niagara. Their induction brought to 26 the number now in this honored position.

Bok and Westendorf were on hand for the induction while Mrs. Libby Blackburn, wife of the late UD coach, received the award honoring her husband, who died in March, 1964. She came from Florida where she is now residing. She is now Mrs. Clinton Courson.

Tom Blackburn needed only three seasons to give Dayton a top winning record—24-8 in the 1949-50 season. However, it was one year later in which the Flyers gained national fame when the 1950-51 quintet, one of the last selected tourney teams, went to the finals of the National Invitation Tournament when that competition was the top collegiate basketball event in the country.

This was the beginning of 17 seasons of greatness under Tom. During his long tenure, Blackburn's teams won 352 games and lost 141. He piloted his teams to 22 tournaments including 10 NIT competitions and finished second five times in the NIT before winning in 1962. His 1955-56 quintet also won the prestigious Kentucky Invitational Tournament in December, 1955.

It was under Blackburn that the UD Fieldhouse, now in its final season, became the Winter entertainment palace of the Dayton area. Full houses have been the rule since the early 1950s and it was the coaching of Blackburn which accounted for these constant turn-outs. It could be said of the Blackburn Era that he changed the whole complexion of the University since football had once ruled the roost and academically UD was just renewing itself after World War II.

They called Art Bok, "Mr. Inside-Outside," "Artful Art," and "The Toledo Torpedo," among other things. As an 18-year-old freshman in 1946, he led the Flyer varsity in rushing with 602 yards and a 6.4 yards per-carry average.

This was only the beginning. As a sophomore he paced the Red and Blue again in the rushing department with 665 yards and scored what was then a record 66 points. He also made All-America Honorable Mention and was first string All-Ohio. He had a leg injury in his junior season (1948) but still made all-star teams again and led the Flyers in rushing for the third straight year. The leg still bothered him as a senior but nevertheless he was "the star" and completed his college career with 132 points which still is high in UD annals. Jack Padley matched that in an earlier era. He also finished with a 40-yard per kick punting average. Bok is generally considered, with Padley, to be the greatest and most versatile runner in UD history.

Gene Westendorf came to UD as a basketball and baseball player. But so talented was this little fellow that he became a fine quarterback for Harry Baujan over two years. In Baujan's Notre Dame Box formation, the quarterback was a blocker and pass receiver.

Art Bok and wife, Jeanne, were a happy couple.

Libby enjoys a moment of conversation with Hall of Fame co-chairman Stan Greenberg, former Blackburn player, right, and Charlie Graham, president, Montgomery Chapter of National Alumni Association. Wife of the late coach came from Florida for festivities.

Gene became adept at both, particularly as a down-field blocker. He completed his grid career as Most Valuable Player.

Westendorf was the scoring star and sparkplug of three UD basketball teams. He averaged over 10 points a game in the days when 40 points for a team was considered high. He was honorary captain in his senior year and placed on the All-Ohio team as a guard.

In the spring he turned to baseball and roamed the outfield successfully for three campaigns. He also hit over .500. So great was his versatility that he was picked the Athlete of the Year at the University in 1941. He also received the Award for Excellence in Scholarship and Athletics, a most prized award in those days of all-around athletes.

Their Moment of Glory

THOSE 1968 RECORDS

Athletic records fell in the Fall of 1968 at the University of Dayton. The football team and its members set 12 marks in the 10 games which produced a 5-5 season and the soccer eleven established or tied four major marks in a highly successful 9-1-1 campaign.

John McVay's gridders were as exciting in this 5-5 season as they were in the 8-2 finish in 1966. The 1968 Red and Blue gridders produced the most successful offensive campaign in McVay's four years at the Flyer Helm.

Halfback Bernie Kress alone set six marks. He had the most carries in a single game — 38 against Louisville. His 76 seasonal points beat the old 72-point mark of Leroy Ka-Ne in 1949 and his 12 touchdowns tied Ka-Ne's efforts in that department, again in 1949. Kress removed Roosevelt Mell's most-carries record of 1966 with 231 ball lugging excursions and his net-yards-rushing effort of 973 erased Jim Akau's 780 in 1951.

Kress set career records, too. He carried the ball 383 times in three years to eliminate Billy Smith's 303-effort (1954-56) from the record book. Kress' net yards rushing were 1662 whereas Ka-Ne totaled 1570 in the 1948-50 period.

Besides Kress, punter Mike McGinnis chipped in with 172 punts for a three-year career mark and also booted the pigskin 6217 yards in three seasons. Both marks were formerly held by Joe Zaleski from 1948 through 1950.

Halfback Bob Madden tied another record, that of catching four punts in one game. He did it against Ohio University and matched an effort by Bobby Recker against Xavier in 1950.

Two team records fell when the Flyers rushed the ball on 77 plays against Louisville. The previous standard had been 70 against Cincinnati in 1956. The Red and Blue had 21 rushing touchdowns and this effort did away with the mark of 20 by the 1951 eleven.

The soccer men accomplished only four marks but they were ever so important in the record-breaking season. First of all, the 9-1-1 mark is the best since the school officially sanctioned the sport in 1956. The nine victories were the most in a season and 11 straight victories over 1967-68 matched the winning streak of the 1957 and 1958 Flyers.

Since the booters had no outstanding offensive star, it was important that the defense was collectively strong. The Red and Blue permitted only six goals all season to top the old mark of 13 in 1966 and the men of John Schleppi achieved seven shutouts for another mark.

The 9-1-1 season pushed the 13-year record over the .500 mark for the first time since the early part of the 1960 campaign. Flyer teams now stand 55 wins, 49 losses and seven ties.

Despite the fine offensive showing in 1968, the football didn't always bounce the Flyers' way. For instance, three of the grid losses were by a total of nine points. Both the Xavier (25-27) and Southern Illinois (17-18) games were lost in the final minute. The Flyers had a field goal split the uprights against SI but the gun sounded just before the snap of the ball and Xavier, through two 15 yard penalties, got within field goal range and made good in the last 20 seconds. The Flyers were in every game but the 42-12 loss to Ohio University. As McVay put it: "The breaks went against us in key situations this year. We got them in other seasons. We had to give up too much defensively while our new players were learning their positions."

McVay hasn't started the 1969 tears but it is frightening to look at the personnel losses from 1968. The student body, the Flyer of the Year. Toastmaster and Cleveland Browns' chaplain Rev. Richard Connelly makes the awards.

three big offensive weapons, quarterback Jerry Biebuyck, Kress and Madden, accounted for 5774 yards in their three years on offense. Besides, Co-captain and fullback Mike Wilson, a great blocker, is gone. Loss of this backfield not only creates a personnel problem but it could signal a change in offensive tactics for 1969. McVay isn't saying this but he will be dealing with a different type signal caller in John Haynes or sophomore Rich Krechting. John won't have a blocker like Wilson who enabled him to stay with a halfback offense.

As if the offensive backfield losses weren't enough, John loses Al Shatteen, Tony Wittbrod, Jim Schmalz and Don Ragon in the defensive secondary. He also loses punter McGinnis and other key personnel such as offensive center Tom Kavanaugh and defensive line stalwarts, huge Lou Galiardi and tough Jim Place, a co-captain, among other others.

McVay does have some promising material for 1969 but that story can wait until the August ALUMNUS and after Spring practice separates the men from the boys.

Schleppi now feels that UD's soccer program has come of age with three straight winning seasons. In all, the Flyer booters have 24 victories, four losses and three ties in that 1966-68 span.

"We averaged 19 players a game this year," says Schleppi, "and we lose only wing Al Rizo-Patron, inside Dave Loftus and fullback Rich Nosse.

"We had our biggest squad since I've been coaching. Fifty five players reported and 30 stayed with us all year," continues John. "The morale throughout the whole squad was fine all season. We developed two front lines and some other depth and this not only helped our playing but it contributed to the morale.

"We won all three overtime matches," he went on. "Because we weren't scoring much we were under pressure all the time and this should be an asset next season. We played one game in Baujan Field, stopping Morehead College's 23-game unbeaten streak, and this helped our morale as well.

"We had eight different scorers," he concluded, "and this enabled us to sneak in a goal here or there because the opposition couldn't concentrate on one man. We'll basically be the same next year. This means good defensively and versatile offensively."

HE SWAM AT PIXFAIR

By Maggie Fitzgibbons

"I even went swimming at Mary Pickford's Pixfair," mused Joe Keller (1929), now a Washington attorney, but once a drama critic. He was here for a Christmas visit with his sister, Mary Keller, of Volusia Avenue.

Joe, a six-foot-five Daytonian, who moved to Washington in 1934, after teaching journalism and writing column here, knew Hollywood in its heyday. Garbo and all that.

"I had an interview with Ethel Barrymore," he recalled. "But never with Garbo."

He recalls meeting other luminaries of the day: George Arliss, Judge Ben Lindsey, Bette Davis, Buster Keaton, Janet Gaynor, Will Rogers.

"I watched the making of 'An American Tragedy' with Sylvia Sydney, he recalled. Keller took over his drama post when Murray Powers was killed in a plane crash at Mitchell Field.

He had a knack for getting in at the beginning of things. He was guest of the man who got the idea for Williamsburg's restoration.

"I wrote one of the first articles on rural electrification," he remembered. "I called it 'Flip-a-Switch Farming.'" He was invited on a special Broadway Show train to a Roosevelt inaugural.

Keller had an entree that any drama editor might have envied.

He already knew Tyrone Power. Tyrone was a student at the prep school that was once a part of University of Dayton.

"Tyrone," recalled Keller, "came from a theatrical family in Cincinnati. He spent his early years in boarding school.

"He was one of my favorites. And I knew them all."

RAZOR CAMPBELL DIES

Richard (Razor) Campbell, captain of the first University of Dayton basketball team to go to the National Invitation Tournament finals in 1951, died in a freak automobile accident, January 5 in West Columbus, Ohio. Razor, who had been living in Hilliard, Ohio, with his wife and four children, was killed instantly when his car hit a 900-pound horse and rolled down a 35-foot embankment.

A star at Columbus Aquinas High School, Razor came to UD in the fall of 1948 and was a three-year starter on the late Tom Blackburn's early basketball teams. As a guard he scored 779 points in three years but was generally considered a great floor leader. Leland (Junior) Norris, who played the other guard on that first NIT team, credits Razor with much of the success of the quintet through his leadership and instinctive play.

Campbell, who graduated from UD in 1951, was 42 years old.
